ED.M. PROGRAM IN SPECIAL EDUCATION
SEQUENCE FOR TEACHER OF STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES AND GIFTED EDUCATION
Leading to NJ Teacher of Students with Disabilities Certification and Rutgers Graduate Certificate in Gifted Education

I. PROGRAM DESCRIPTION: The master’s degree program in special education and gifted education provides advanced graduate preparation for general education teachers seeking Teacher of Students with Disabilities licensure and the Rutgers Graduate Certificate in Gifted Education. This program prepares educators to meet the needs of exceptional students in educational settings.

NJDOE requires a standard Instructional Certificate or Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing (CEAS) in a subject area other than English as a Second Language to issue a TOSD certification. Therefore this program is only available to applicants who hold an instructional certificate other than ESL.

Course work addresses the instructional needs of students with mild and moderate disabilities and the academic and affective needs of gifted learners. The 36-credit program is composed of a special education core (21 credits) and a gifted education core (15 credits).

The special education core develops competencies in the assessment and remediation of students with learning disabilities, collaborative teaching/consultation skills, and knowledge about New Jersey special education law.

The gifted education core develops competencies in the foundational knowledge and standards of the field, collaborative and responsive teaching, evidence-based instructional strategies, development of specialized curricula, and the design and improvement of programs and services for gifted learners.

Students not interested in pursuing a master’s degree but interested in obtaining the Teaching Students with Disabilities endorsement should apply for admission into the 21-credit non-degree program. A student working on the non-degree program who later decides to be in the master’s degree program must seek admission to the degree program prior to completing 12 applicable credits.
