Why Do We Need a Visual Identity System?

The Rutgers name is recognized around the world. As the eighth oldest institution of higher education in the nation, Rutgers has built a prominent and credible brand for over 250 years. We all play an important role in maintaining and strengthening that brand.

By using the common set of graphic elements, colors, font styles, and symbols described in this guide, you convey a consistent visual identity for all of the campuses, divisions, schools, departments, centers, units, organizations, and programs that make up Rutgers. We all benefit from this collective identity for the university.

The visual identity system helps everyone to quickly recognize Rutgers and immediately associate the stature of the university's brand with its numerous units, services, and programs. The purpose of this User Guide is to help members of the Rutgers community, as well as other authorized users, understand how to correctly use the university's logos, colors, and other brand elements.

2004, Before the Rutgers Visual Identity System

2023, With the Rutgers Visual Identity System

It's Policy

In 2006, the Rutgers Board of Governors mandated a cohesive, recognizable visual identity system for universitywide use across Rutgers. This policy requires every member of the university community to apply the guidelines and standards in this visual identity user guide to all forms of internal and external university communications and materials that officially represent the university.

The policy requires that:

- Rutgers brand elements, as described in this user guide, are the only sanctioned marks that can be used to officially represent the university
- No other marks or symbols may be used or created to officially represent the university and its programs, people, or initiatives as a whole or in part

How to Use the System

All communications, merchandise, and other materials intended for use both internal and external to the university should include Rutgers' official marks.

For more information on the university's visual identity policy, please review university policy 80.1.5: University Visual Identity or contact the Department of University Communications and Marketing.

The Rutgers brand is an asset that can increase or decrease in value. Deviations from the visual identity system erode and devalue the Rutgers brand, therefore, exceptions to this policy are rarely justified or granted. A written appeal for an exception must be submitted to, and approved by, the Department of University Communications and Marketing.

How to Get Help

The Rutgers Visual Identity System is maintained by the Department of University Communications and Marketing.

Visit our website at communications.rutgers.edu or email contactus@ucm.rutgers.edu to:

- Ask for brand elements that are part of the visual identity system
- Get answers about how to use elements of the visual identity system
- Discuss compliance, special permissions, and exemptions

Protecting the Marks

The official logos and marks in this guide are federally registered trademarks of the university. Rutgers, like other major universities, maintains a trademark program to protect its trademarks from infringement and misuse. This protection is required to maintain the federal registration, to avoid public confusion and to ensure that logos and marks federally registered by Rutgers are used for their intended purpose.

When Rutgers marks (Rutgers R, mascot logos, etc.) are placed on branded merchandise, including apparel and headwear, they should always include the appropriate registration mark. The application is required regardless of whether an item is for sale or to be given away as a promotional item. Application of the registered trademark symbol ® or ™ to Rutgers marks is not required when Rutgers marks and brand elements are used on printed materials, stationery, marketing collateral, websites, or digital communications.

Contact the Office of Trademark Licensing at trademark@ucm.rutgers.edu or 848-932-0586/0558 to:

- Get guidance about how to let vendors, partners, or sponsors use the Rutgers name and marks
- Find vendors who are licensed to make products with Rutgers trademarks

System Overview

The Rutgers R is the official logo of the university and the foundational mark of the visual identity system. The elements of the visual identity system are available for download or upon request. To maintain brand consistency, don't create the marks or any combination of these components yourself.

To download electronic files of the visual identity system, visit communications.rutgers.edu/identity. For more information, email contactus@ucm.rutgers.edu.

To keep the integrity of the Rutgers brand intact and preserve its value, everyone must display the Rutgers R, signatures, and athletics mascot logos correctly. This includes using the correct fonts, positioning, and size of all elements.

These standards and examples apply to all communications materials and merchandise produced by or on behalf of Rutgers University: its units, programs, and departments or any other group representing the university in an official capacity.

Unacceptable Treatments

To clarify how to use our brand elements, we've created some examples of how the marks should NOT be used or changed. Although we are providing a range of Don'ts in this section, it is not exhaustive; other unacceptable treatments and special cases of exemptions certainly exist. If you have questions about what can and cannot be done within the parameters of the visual identity system, please contact identity@ucm.rutgers.edu.

Don'ts

1. Do not use double lines around the Rutgers R
2. Do not crop any portion of the Rutgers R
3. Do not put anything—text, graphics, or symbols—inside the Rutgers R.
4. Do not place text or a graphic over the Rutgers R
5. Do not use the Rutgers R as a gradient or watermark
6. Do not distort or resize any portion of the Rutgers R or signature
7. Do not manipulate a signature in any way
8. Do not make the signature any color other than red, black, or white

Rutgers Signature Generator

The signature generator is an online tool developed to allow Rutgers faculty and staff to download existing signatures or create a new signature for a school or unit. You can download or create Rutgers R horizontal and vertical signatures using the application. A Rutgers NetID is required to access the system at signaturegenerator.rutgers.edu.

Horizontal and vertical signatures are created separately by the generator. Users are asked to input unit information to fit the specifications for each signature style. Central administrative and school communicators will approve their respective signatures.

Once a signature is approved, the generator will create color combinations and file types for a signature's package. Each set of files contains allowed color variations and standard file formats for print and digital applications and a README.pdf that serves as a key to the files. See the examples on the right.

Rutgers R Horizontal Unit Signature

Your package includes four folders containing file formats for print and digital applications in the identity system's allowed color variations. Do not alter the signature files in any way.

EPS folder: for professional printing and branded merchandise

The folder contains EPS (Encapsulated PostScript) files in CMYK (cyan, magenta, yellow, black) color values. A vector-based file format, the EPS is used by professional graphic designers, commercial printers, and licensed vendors. The file is intended to be inserted, placed, or imported into a design file. An EPS file can be used at any size without affecting its quality.

ESIGNATURE folder

The folder contains a Rutgers red SVG file sized for use in your email client.

PNG folder: for digital communications

The folder contains PNG (Portable Network Graphic) files in RGB (red, green, blue) color values. PNG is a graphics format used to display images in digital forms or in files that require transparency.

The PNG cannot be enlarged without losing the correct image resolution but can be reduced in size without losing clarity. Use this file format for desktop publishing applications, PowerPoint or Keynote presentations, social media graphics, video graphics, and digital communications such as evites and newsletters.

SVG folder: for websites, web-based applications, and desktop applications

The folder contains SVG (Scalable Network Graphic) files in RGB (red, green, blue) color values. The SVG format is used to display two-dimensional graphics, illustrations, and charts on websites and web-based applications. As a vector file, it can be scaled up or down without losing any of its resolution. Use this file format for websites, email signatures, and in the identity system's eletterhead files.

Merchandise Standards

Design approval is required from the Office of Trademark Licensing on all Rutgers-branded merchandise including promotional and fundraising items, vinyl banners, and awards and plaques. Anyone wishing to use the Rutgers name, the Rutgers R (with or without a signature), or any other Rutgers logo on merchandise must use the Swag Portal or another approved vendor. If using an approved vendor outside the Swag Portal, first complete and submit a Branded Merchandise Artwork Review form. For more information, email trademark@um.rutgers.edu.

Using the Rutgers R in Words

The Rutgers R can be combined with other letters of the same font on marketing and merchandise applications. The Rutgers R must appear in clear contrast to the other letters in the word or phrase. The contrast could be achieved by varying the color of the other letters or by choosing a Rutgers R with an outline. The Rutgers R must always be used in a color/outline combination that aligns with the system colors depicted on page 21.

This application is reserved for brand enhancing words and phrases. Access to the font that aligns with the Rutgers R is managed by University Communications and Marketing.

Reach out to contactus@ucm.rutgers.edu if your team is interested in using the Rutgers R in a word or phrase. Words and applications for using the Rutgers R in words is subject to approval from University Communications and Marketing.

If you have questions about what can and cannot be done within the parameters of the visual identity system, please email contactus@ucm.rutgers.edu.

The "R" in "GREEN" is the Rutgers R, which is white with a green outline.The word "RESPECT" is displayed in a bold, sans-serif font. The "R" is red with a white outline, and the rest of the letters are white with a black outline. The entire word is set against a black background.The word "PRIDE" is displayed in a bold, sans-serif font. The letters are filled with a rainbow gradient, and the "R" is the Rutgers R, which is white with a rainbow outline.

Example of non-allowable treatment

Websites

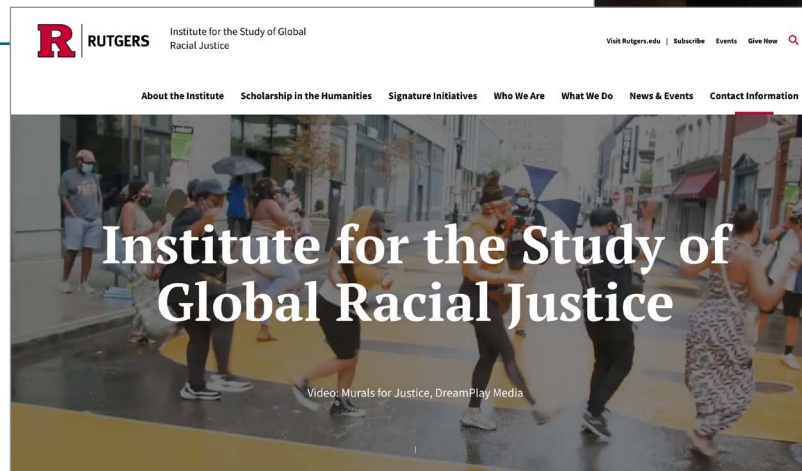

Use of the all-white chancellor-level signature as the main branding for the Rutgers–Newark website.

Use of the approved primary logo color for the chancellor-level signature.

The primary logo with ample space for the unit name.

Digital Communications

Video: The Rutgers R logo, with or without a signature, must appear prominently at or near the opening or closing of a Rutgers video.

The appropriate Rutgers unit name must also appear somewhere during the video.

Social Media: All Rutgers-affiliated social media accounts should follow these guidelines when using the Rutgers R in their profile image:

- Use the red Rutgers R on a white or black background
- Use an approved vertical signature, no acronyms
- Spell out the full name of the account when naming the page since abbreviations are not widely understood. This will appear as the account title and is what influences the platform's search result when users are trying to find your page/account

Digital Badges

Visual identity standards apply to all forms of digital badging, digital micro-credentialing, and online coursework offered by the university.

Rutgers has developed the following criteria for digital badges that are easy to implement using Microsoft PowerPoint or Adobe Illustrator templates provided by University Communications and Marketing. These templates can be found at communications.rutgers.edu/services-resources/digital-credentials.

Shapes

(Used to indicate the category for the digital badge)

- Shield: Academic Program badges
- Circle: Student Life Program badges
- Hexagon: Professional Development badges
- Square: Standalone or other badge types

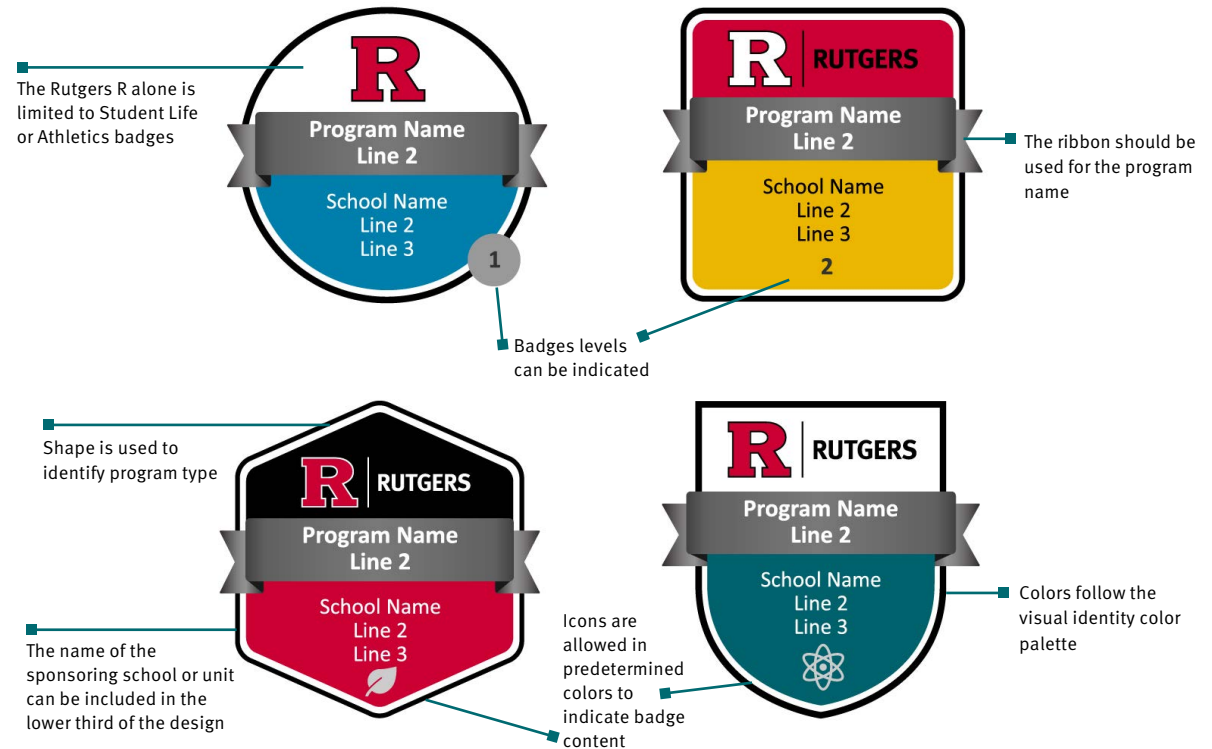

Rutgers Logos

- The Rutgers R primary signature should be used on Academic Program, Professional Development, and Standalone badge types in the top third of the badge
- The Rutgers R logo should be used by itself on Student Life and Athletics badges only

Colors

The tops of the badge designs are limited to colors from the Rutgers visual identity primary color palette—red, white, and black—combined with the logotype.

The bottom third of the badges may use a color from the primary or supporting visual identity color palette.

Program Name

All badges use a center ribbon for a one-to-two line program name. Character count and fonts are specified in the templates and are chosen for maximum readability.

Sponsoring Unit

The lower third of the badge design can be used for the name of the sponsoring school or unit, a subject-related icon, or a badge-level indicator. Font and character limits in this section of the badge design are specified in the templates.

Badge Level

Use a corner or bottom area of the badge to indicate the level—recommend that levels correspond across all categories.

- 1 - novice
- 2 - intermediate
- 3 - expert

Printed Marketing Materials

Visual identity standards apply to all forms of printed marketing and communications materials including but not limited to flyers, brochures, advertisements, posters, etc.

NOTE: Many examples are not depicted at actual size. On the original versions, minimum size requirements are met.

- The Rutgers R logo must appear, with or without a signature, on the front of all printed communications
- The appropriate Rutgers unit name must also appear somewhere on the printed piece
- Any background color is acceptable as long as the logo appears in one of the three allowed colors: red (Pantone® 186), black, or white
- Graphic elements can be used to accent the visual identity system and help lend a unique look to your unit's marketing materials. Graphic elements are defined as a shape, style, texture, or pattern without adjacent words or text
- The Rutgers R logo, with or without a signature, and the unit address should appear on the back of multipage publications
- The appropriate name for the university should also be used in the address block

Good use of the primary color palette.

The white and black signature option works nicely on the red background.

Use actual Rutgers students, staff or faculty.

Using the red and white version of the institutional logo with ample space around it.

A good example of a unit using the Rutgers R without a signature. Also a good use of a patterned background.

Display materials must be bought through a licensed vendor.

Stationery Standards

The stationery standards provided are to be used by all units within the university.

Glossary

Clear Space: Clear space is the area immediately surrounding a logo and is specifically designated to be free of any text or graphics. This space gives breathing room to the logo and shows the design in the best possible light.

CMYK: Stands for Cyan, Magenta, Yellow, Black and are the four basic colors used for printing color images.

EPS File: Encapsulated PostScript; a file extension for a graphics file format used in vector-based images in Adobe Illustrator.

Graphic Element: A shape, style, texture, or pattern without adjacent words or text used to enhance communications materials or marketing pieces, but not compete with Rutgers main brand elements or violate clear space requirements.

Hex Color: A color hex code is a way of specifying color using hexadecimal values. The code itself is a hex triplet, which represents three separate values that specify the levels of the component colors. The code starts with a pound sign (#) and is followed by six hex values or three hex value pairs (for example, #AFD645).

Licensee: A third party allowed to make Rutgers branded products under a licensor's trademark agreement. Vendors without this agreement in place cannot legally reproduce products with any of the Rutgers trademarks—including the Rutgers name.

Logo: Stylized text or text combined with a graphic element that is used to represent a product, department, organization, project, or initiative. Marks that are considered to be a logo outside the approved Rutgers Visual Identity System are not permitted.

Pantone: A system for matching colors, used in specifying printing inks.

PNG File: Portable Network Graphics; a patent-free file format for image compression, commonly used for images.

RGB: Red, Green, Blue; sets color values for images on a computer screen.

Signature: The combination of the Rutgers R with an additional, more specific identifier. Rutgers signatures are created with specific fonts and spacing requirements and can only be created by University Communications and Marketing.

Template: A pre-designed master file used to help you implement the brand correctly. Templates are available for PowerPoint presentations, electronic letterhead, and email signatures.

Trademark: A symbol, word, or words legally registered or established by first use as representing a company or product. Federally registered trademarks are indicated with the appropriate symbol ® in the first instance of use to protect legal ownership. TM is used when a symbol or word is not yet federally registered.

Unit: In this user guide, “unit” is used to refer to a type of Rutgers organizational division; department, school, office, center, division, etc. may all be referred to as a unit.

December 8, 2006
Meeting of the Board of Governors
Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

WHEREAS, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey (“Rutgers”), at the direction of the Committee on University Relations and Honorary Degrees, has conducted extensive research into the public perceptions of the university among key constituencies in New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, the research indicated that general awareness of Rutgers is high among all New Jersey constituencies, but identified a clear need to clarify and demonstrate Rutgers’ value to the state of New Jersey and its citizens; and

WHEREAS, the research indicated that Rutgers must differentiate itself from the other publicly funded schools in New Jersey; must sharpen its messages by better coordinating university communications; must manage and preserve the integrity of its brand, paying particular attention to the proliferation of logos and other visual representation of the university and its units and programs; and must leverage and mobilize the strong brand equity that Rutgers has among state residents, executives, and alumni; and

WHEREAS, the Rutgers name and visual identity are substantial institutional assets and, therefore, their usage is under the purview of the Board of Governors; and

WHEREAS, a strong Rutgers identity has far-reaching benefits, enhancing the university’s ability to recruit faculty, students, and staff; generate revenue; garner grants; engage alumni; and attract external support; and

WHEREAS, effective and efficient communication between the university and its many audiences requires (i) a clear graphic architecture and nomenclature that build equity in the Rutgers name, clarify organizational relationships, and maintain unit distinctiveness; (ii) a communications strategy that ensures the use of coherent and consistent messages about Rutgers’ unique attributes and assets; (iii) an administrative office that is the central point for managing and enhancing the university’s identity and messaging; and

WHEREAS, the Rutgers name and visual identity should be recognized and embraced by the university community as important assets deserving oversight and management, requiring (i) policies that empower a central administrative office with authority to manage and enforce the proper use of the university’s name and a unified visual identity system; (ii) clear guidelines, policies, and tools that support campus and unit communicators as they express their campus’s or unit’s relationship to the university, as well as their campus’s or unit’s distinct programs and purpose; (iii) policies and procedures that clarify how and when other entities may use the university’s name and/or marks; and (iv) policies and procedures regarding how and when new university marks will be approved and/or protected under federal and state law, and ensuring protection of existing marks; and

WHEREAS, transition to a unified visual identity system must be accomplished according to a reasonable timetable based on the analysis of financial and physical considerations;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of Governors of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, requires that all university units will use the Rutgers name and the unified visual identity system, including a set of approved marks, as outlined in policies and guidelines; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that all university officers will support the proper use of the Rutgers name and a unified visual identity system by ensuring that units and personnel in their areas adhere to established policies and guidelines; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Vice President for University Relations will create, distribute, and enforce policies, procedures, and guidelines necessary for the proper use of the Rutgers name and the implementation of a unified visual identity system; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Vice President for University Relations will develop tools, training, and other incentives that facilitate the proper use of the Rutgers name and the implementation of a unified visual identity system by all units of the university; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Vice President for University Relations will establish oversight and advisory bodies that facilitate the proper use of the Rutgers name and the implementation of a unified visual identity system; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution will take effect immediately.
