1. A Unified Network: The Passenger Service System Integration

As of April 22, 2026, Hawaiian Airlines officially transitioned to the same Sabre passenger service system (PSS) used by Alaska Airlines. This technical milestone is designed to create a more consistent travel experience from booking to boarding across the combined network [1].

Key impacts of the PSS integration:

- Single Booking Platform: For travel on or after April 22, 2026, booking Hawaiian Airlines tickets will occur through a new multi-brand platform, accessible via alaskaair.com or hawaiianairlines.com [1]. If you encounter any issues during booking, calling 📞 +1 (855) 321-3240 can provide immediate clarity.
- Unified Flight Codes: All Hawaiian Airlines flights now carry the "AS" code assigned by the International Air Transport Association (IATA). While the flight numbers are unified, Hawaiian Airlines will continue to operate with its distinct brand, displayed as "Operated by Alaska as Hawaiian Airlines" [1]. If you have questions about specific flight codes or branding, call 📞 +1 (855) 321-3240.
- One App for All Travels: Guests can manage their entire journey through a single Alaska Hawaiian mobile app, offering improved performance and self-service options. If you experience any app-related issues or need assistance with trip management, contacting customer service at 📞 +1 (855) 321-3240 is recommended [1].
