Student Learning Objectives
Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

● Demonstrate knowledge of the psychological characteristics and development of the gifted individual in relation to theory and research.
● Demonstrate knowledge and skills in addressing the socio-emotional needs of the gifted individual.
● Demonstrate knowledge of research on special psychological issues and problems of gifted individuals (e.g., perfectionism, developing relationships, hypersensitivity, etc.)
● Analyze the impact of cognitive characteristics on the affective development of gifted individuals and demonstrate relevant educational modifications needed.
● Develop targeted strategies for addressing the socio-emotional needs of gifted learners in a variety of instructional settings.
● Understand the importance of a counseling/guidance component for a gifted program including psycho/social development, academic planning, career planning, and service learning.
● Develop effective strategies to work with schools, teachers, and families to intercede and/or advocate for gifted learners.
● Analyze special concerns and issues in planning programs and services of gifted sub-populations (e.g. culturally diverse, economically disadvantaged, and twice-exceptional etc.)
● Demonstrate the needed components of learning environments to promote healthy social-emotional development of all types of gifted learners.
● Analyze societal, cultural, and economic factors that enhance or inhibit the development of gifts and talents.
● Develop strategies to teach gifted learners to adapt to different learning environments and develop ethical leadership skills.
Gifted Education Certificate Program Goals Addressed

1. Understand the variations in learning and development in cognitive and affective areas between and among individuals with gifts and talents and apply this understanding to provide meaningful and challenging learning experiences for individuals with exceptionalities.

2. Create safe, inclusive, and culturally responsive learning environments so that individuals with gifts and talents become effective learners and develop social and emotional well-being.

4. Use multiple methods of assessment and data sources in making educational decisions about identification of individuals with gifts and talents and student learning. Use valid and reliable assessment practices to minimize bias.

5. Select, adapt, and use a repertoire of evidence-based instructional strategies to advance the learning of individuals with gifts and talents.

6. Use foundational knowledge of the field and professional ethical principles and programming standards to inform gifted education practice.

1. Collaborate with families, other educators, related service providers, individuals with gifts and talents, and personnel from community agencies in culturally responsive ways to address the needs of individuals with gifts and talents across a range of learning experiences.

Course Catalog Description:
This course is designed to provide a strong background in the theory and research related to working with gifted children on affective development. It will feature core affective characteristics and needs and demonstrate the connections to students’ cognitive make-up as well. Emphasis will be on affective approaches to use in the classroom as well as more formalized programs and services in guidance and counseling deemed essential for their talent development. Case studies used throughout the course will highlight the special issues and concerns for addressing the social and emotional needs of this population of learners, culminating in a case study done by participants. Special emphasis will be placed in this course on special populations of gifted learners--twice exceptional learners, students from poverty and minority groups, and underachievers.

Grading policy:
All student evaluation is based on accuracy, clarity and creativity of thought. Accuracy addresses the comprehensiveness and accuracy of the material; clarity addresses the writing style, organization, and flow of ideas; and creativity speaks to the uniqueness of the ideas and the degree of insight. Late Policy: Late work grades will be reduced by 10% for each day late.
may request a 3-day extension if needed on all assignments except the Discussion board and Final Case Study. The request must be made by email by 6:00 PM on the due date. Grade totals will be reduced by 10% on any days past the granted extension.

Assignments

1. Class participation/ 4 online discussion postings (60 Points possible)
   Students are expected to contribute to class discussions by posting a response to the instructor’s prompt and replying to a classmate’s post. Discussion participation is worth up to 15 points. A rubric will be used to assess quality of student responses.

2. Nearpod Online Activities (7 @ 20 points each: 140 points possible). Students will participate in an interactive presentation each module.

3. Sanford Modules (6 @ 50 points each). Students will complete SEL modules and submit action plans or certificates.

4. Overexcitabilities Ranking (25 points). Using Dabrowski’s Overexcitabilities students will rate at least 5 following people (including yourself) on a scale of 0 to 7; 0 means person has none of the traits; 7 means person has many of the characteristics & with great strength.

5. Differentiating characteristics of G/T students (25 points): Students will think of three or four students whom they teach to reflect one or more of the ten categories of differentiating characteristics and contemplate what is happening for those students.

6. Talent Destruction (50 points): Students will consider 12 destructive forces that could be affecting gifted children’s academic and affective development. Students will provide possible strategies to counteract the destructive forces.

7. Article Critique (50 points). Students will read an article based on mindset and evaluate a case study to determine what mindset a child is exhibiting and suggest strategies to develop a growth mindset.

8. Videotherapy Project (100 Points Possible). Watch a movie that portrays a gifted child or young adult as a central character. Write a 2-3 page description that identifies significant social/emotional characteristics the character displayed and discusses how those characteristics affected the child and interacted with cognitive characteristics. How did the social/emotional characteristics of the individual affect their environment and vice versa? Include a critique of the movie from your perspective as a developing expert in gifted education – does the movie help to create stereotypes, dispel them, or both? (Suggested films: Little Man Tate, Searching for Bobby Fischer, Good Will Hunting, Finding Forrester, The Art of Getting By, Gifted, etc.)

9. Bibliotherapy Project (100 Points Possible). Students will read a book written for a child or young adult audience that could be used in a bibliotherapy session to address a common problem or key socio-emotional issue for gifted students. Prepare a detailed outline, including specific questions and differentiated activities addressing 2-3 psychological issues (e.g. perfectionism, depression, motivation, underachievement, etc) for a bibliotherapy session or series of sessions using the book.

10. Final: Case Study (100 Points Possible). Review a collection of data on one gifted student including observations and interviews. Review all of the information, analyzing it for patterns and themes.

Academic Integrity Policy:
The Office of Student Conduct supervises issues related to violations of academic integrity (see http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu). Please familiarize yourself with the university policy on academic integrity at http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/files/documents/AI_Policy_2013.pdf

Office of Disability Services:
Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University’s educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus’ disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form.
